THEME of the Conference

Estd.2002

ज्ञान-विज्ञान विमुक्तये

Artificial Intelligence ("AI") is not a new concept, especially to the people who are enthusiastic about science and technology. New technologies are innovated and incorporated into the routine in the life of people. Artificial intelligence (AI) is one such innovation which has drastically impacted the functional eco system of society. The technology is changing rapidly, with computers and now robots, replacing simple human activities.

AI is basically a machine that can actually think on its own. In an era where artificial intelligence has become more than a buzzword and has transcended the realms of science fiction, it is imperative that we pause to reflect on the profound impact it has on our society, our daily lives, and the legal frameworks that govern our existence. In the rapidly evolving landscape of the 21st century, artificial intelligence (AI) has emerged as a transformative force, reshaping the way we live, work, and interact with the world. The significance of AI in today's society extends across various domains, touching upon both the individual and the collective aspects of our lives

The Conference sought to analyze the complex Confluence that exist between these three fields. A wide range of topics will be probably covered during the Conference, including the moral dilemmas arising from the use of AI in legal systems, the ways in which AI is changing the legal profession, and the difficulties that these technological developments present in maintaining justice's fairness and equity. It also served as a forum for discussion of the changing legal frameworks required to control the spread of AI technology in the legal industry. The Conference will function as an essential center for exchanging perspectives, promoting multidisciplinary discussions, and creating avenues to negotiate the intricacies present at the confluence of artificial intelligence and law.

This Conference will critically re-examine the current theory, law, and practice of Artificial Intelligence. This Conference will provide discussion on the intricacies of artificial intelligence. Renowned scholars would be joining the Conference that aims to garner a strong academic response addressing the recent and imminent changes in the legal framework in conjunction with artificial intelligence and allied areas.
